DOORS CANCEL S.C. Plans New Weekend

Last Friday, the student council's first meeting of the year was held. Although the meeting was mostly organizational in nature, motions concerning a social week-end and the Athletic Association was also discussed.

Charlie Harrington, social committee chairman, motioned that $10,000 be appropriated to finance entertainment for the week-end of the 6th. Harrington announced that the Doors, who were scheduled for Saturday night of that week-end, had cancelled out and that he was trying to book a possible Tom Rush and Livingston Taylor show. Other talent planned for that week-end includes the Columbia recording group Swallow and a popular new country rock group called Prairie Oysters. Several movies are also included in the week-end plans.

It was brought up that over the past few years, the Athletic Association has accumulated from the activity fee, $15,000. This fact prompted the council to draft a letter to the AA requesting that they absorb the total costs of all the athletic clubs on campus as opposed to the fifty-fifty agreement now employed. The council felt that this would relax the financial strain which is presently surpressing their activities.

New Library Rules

Beginning today, the Alumni Memorial library will be carding everyone entering the building asking for college ID's. Anyone not having an ID card will not be allowed in unless he receives clearance through desk personnel. The reasons for this check are many. In order to continue service to the students the library must maintain adequate stock of books (obviously) office supplies, audio-visual equipment for student use, secretaries and administrators. These facilities are constantly being looted and hence, less appropriate service to students. Use of identification cards will also help to keep down the numbers of people using the library as a coffee house conversation center.

Help maintain order and silence in the library, when disturbances are made a report to one of the desk people will serve to reinstate that order necessary to keep the library open as a place of intellectual study. The ID system will be used until it proves unfeasible or until students suggest a better vehicle for operation.

In addition, the library is presently awaiting the installation of low-noise level ballasts to calm the incessant humming of the flourescent fixtures. The air-conditioning unit will be shut down for the winter soon and this will facilitate much needed repair to the unit.

Responsibility is in your hands. The library is a study area for all. The facilities are for use by all. Don't borrow books for the year when somebody else needs them. Thank you.

The study rooms will be opened on a deposit basis. Due to previous damage and abuse, use of these rooms will require some sort of deposit, be it money or personal property.

Trustees Tour Campus

Trustees of Lowell Technological Institute last Tuesday were provided an escorted tour of the LTI facilities led by President Everett V. Olsen and Provost, Dr. Leon Beghian.

Various department heads accompanied the group in order to answer questions concerning the different LTI sites including: Dr. William Hogan, College of Engineering, Dr. Joseph Killilea, Chairman of Nuclear Studies, Dean Stuart Mandell of the College of Management Science, Dean Edward Alexander of the Graduate School, Harrison Schloerb of Administrative Services and Kenneth Rogers, Director of Physical Plant and Facilities.

The tour was an extensive one, covering all aspects of the school including dormitories, the 18-story student union and two Riverside St. Sciences buildings, nearing the final phases of construction.

The trustees had requested the tour, feeling a knowledge of the physical aspects of Lowell Tech would be of assistance in their determination of its emerging needs.

Follow the leader.

Social Committee Regroups

Due to minor technical difficulties the Social Committee was forced to regroup forces and meet at the beach for an emergency disecutive session. Among the topics of discussion were:

top secret weekend
etc.

We came to the conclusion that the Doors would OD and cancel; which they did. This gave us quite a rush, so we decided to give you a risk, so here it is fans:

All Tech Fall Festival

Fri. Oct. 6 - Tom Rush & Livingston Taylor in concert

Sat. Oct. 7 - L.T.I. Hawks vs. Worcester State

Swallow in concert

Sun. Oct. 8 - Arts & Crafts Festival

Prairie Oysters in concert

Golden Oldie Movie Festival

Tickets will be $3.00 for the Rush and only $1.00 for Swallow and the Prairie Oysters (no idiot! not for swallowing the oysters - for Swallow & Prairie Oysters - movies included on Sunday). We need your support fans if we want to continue to present you with the tops in pops so buy a ticket even if you won't attend.

Any club, group, or organization who wishes to enter a float and/or queen in a parade planned before the football game contact Box 1808 or the Student Council office.

Important note! So please note! Social committee meeting at 12:00 noon-Tuesday 19, 1972AD (tomorrow ya boob!) in the student council office. All welcome, all invited, etc. etc.

FOIBLED AGAIN

Dr. Olsen is now pressing for the release of funds withheld from Tech by State foibles. Funds and positions are being sought primarily to operate the new buildings which are rapidly nearing completion. Previously Olsen stated that the buildings might have to remain closed until the new fiscal year begins in June because of the severe financial limitations imposed on Tech by the State Legislature.

Last Wednesday, Raymond Rigney, Budget Director for the Senate Ways & Means Committee, toured the Institute's buildings in order to appraise the urgency for opening the new facilities. After the tour President Olsen was optimistic and said that some support was expected from Mr. Rigney which is a decisive step in attaining the needed funds.

OPINIONS

Fraternal Ride

Natural beauty has become an increasingly scarce commodity these days. Ever present are the scars of man's continual assault on his environment. Although a large part of this is the accumulated effects of urban society on nature, there are many tragic instances which would be avoided if people would be aware of something or someone other than themselves.

For instance, when you are driving on Routes 3, 93 or 95 the large amount of fraternity and sorority emblems which are ostentaciously painted on the rocks is astounding. Highways are bleak eyesores that should not be compounded by various organizations self-advertisements.

Truly, rocks are not the greatest natural wonders, but today, any portion of nature left unscarred by man awes many people. This public boastfulness of fraternities and sororities has reduced these areas to the level of a dirty city street.

Fraternal organizations are approaching a critical period. They must prove that they can adjust to a changing society. One need only be familiar with the ever decreasing number of pledges, to see that success in this area has remained somewhat elusive.

Painting rocks or water towers, holding beer blasts or stag parties is not being cognizant of what is going on about you.

Fraternities must become aware of today's crises. The problems of this city, its politics and its people are staring us in the face. So much can be done by fraternities, for they have the manpower and organization, what they lack apparently is the motivation and awareness.

Come Home McGovern

by Steve Barry

Who is George McGovern? What does he stand for? What would he do if elected? Those are the unanswered questions of this presidential campaign. The incumbent — Nixon — is at least partially understood, but George McGovern is an unknown quantity.

The answers to those questions seemed fairly clear a year ago. McGovern was a colorless but conscientious liberal; an ambitious, but fundamentally descent man, who objected to our government's policies of slaughter in Indochina, and of repression and neglect at home. He was a man who would turn our country around if elected.

Since that time, however, the picture has become clouded. McGovern has vacillated under stress. He has hedged on his positions again and again. The man of principle seems to have disappeared, and in his place we find an unusually inept, but otherwise typical politician; who far behind in the polls, is apparently waiting for divine intervention on behalf of his candidacy.

His behavior during the Eagleton affair was typical of the "new" McGovern. From a strictly pragmatic point of view, Thomas Eagleton probably should not have received the vice-presidential nomination. However, once he had selected Eagleton McGovern should have stuck by him. Indeed, that was his initial reaction to the revelation of Eagleton's psychiatric history. Then he began to hedge, and in a week he had gone from "100%" support for Eagleton, to a new running mate. McGovern's rationale for the change was that it would keep the campaign "issue oriented." Instead the incompetency of McGovern's staff became an issue.

Even now, when the polls show him 30 points behind Nixon, McGovern seems unable to act decisively. He has failed miserably in his efforts to drive Nixon out of the sanctuary of the White House and onto the campaign trail. His attacks on Nixon have been harsh but ineffective — aimed at Nixon personally rather than at his policies, and permitting the incumbent to remain fastidiously above the election. Spiro Agnew himself doesn't feel the necessity to campaign and makes appearances only as "The Vice-President" and not as a candidate.

McGovern is in trouble to be sure. To catch Nixon he must continue to bring his campaign directly to the people. If Nixon prefers to sit it out in the White House, so be it.

He will come out when the polls show he is being threatened and the polls will improve, supposedly, when McGovern's position with the voters is improved. Because of McGovern's problems in his own organization he has made some voters doubtful as to his ability to administer and lead if he is elected President. McGovern must show these people during the remainder of the campaign that his progress is workable and that he had the administrative ability and leadership to put them into effect if elected.

Blood Drive on Campus

Ever talk about helping someone out but looking for someone who really needs help? Now one hour of your time could mean years of life for someone else.

On Monday and Tuesday, September 24 and 26, the American Red Cross will be holding a blood drive. How's your chance to really help someone out. How do you go about it?

This week there will be sign-up booths located near the mail room during the day and by the cafeterias at Leitch and Smith in the evenings. Master sign-up sheets will be located at these points; pick a time period that suits your schedule, and then come to the Red Cross Bloodmobile in Cumnock Hall the day and time that you signed-up.

If you have any questions with regards to the Blood Drive, contact Jerry Cantor or Gene Zenoni, Box 2415.

Sign up early to be sure and get a time you want.

CLASS OF 76 ELECTIONS

Freshman elections are coming up soon! Any freshman who wishes to run for president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer or student representative may collect 25 signatures (which constitutes a nomination) beginning September 25. All nominations must be submitted to the dean's office no later than October 2. Election day is October 4.

A meeting will be held this Thursday, September 21, at 12:00 noon, in the student council office in the basement of the old library for all candidates.

Bun Yu Ng was a member of the class of 1975 and was studying to be an engineer. He lost his life tragically last summer in an auto accident in Massachusetts.

Those who knew Bun Yu Ng, know him to be a talented student, and a kind friend. We express our deepest sympathy to the friends and loved ones of one who was taken so suddenly while so far from home.

BHE To Announce New Tuition Plan To Legislature

The Board of Higher Education is preparing to announce a new scheme for state higher education tuition which will be presented to the legislature for action this session. All indications suggest that the proposal will recommend a considerably higher rate.

Basically there are four alternatives open to the Board. They are: 1) a low tuition as Tech has ($200), 2) a moderate tuition as in all other state schools ($300), 3) an "ability to pay" scheme or 4) letting the legislature take the initiative which might mean letting the student pay the full cost of education. The Board of Higher Education is tending toward an "ability to pay" tuition but seemingly cannot agree on a basic formula to apply to students. The LTI Board of Trustees created a committee to study the tuition matter at their May meeting. Trustee Busansky, chairman of the committee, stated that relevant facts such as the effects of a raise on the students, the state budget, and availability of financial aid were not known and that the trustees should know these facts before voting any increase.

The committee was subsequently charged to be fact finding in nature, with emphasis on information unique to Lowell Tech. This material will be presented to the trustees in order to assist them in considering tuition levels.

State college tuition is set by the Board of Trustees of each institution. The Legislature can set a minimum by action of law and therefore is the only body which outranks the Trustees in the area of tuition.

Last year efforts by the Legislature to raise tuition failed but a cabal initiated by the Governors office succeeded in raising all in-state tuition by $100. LTI broke from the flock last May by reversing its decision and created a minor furor in the state administration. The Board of Higher Education is using LTI as an excuse to reconsider tuition policies (i.e. raise tuition).

Lowell Tech had lowered the tuition when it had become apparent that no additional financial or educational aid would be forthcoming from the state.

EAST MEETS WEST

The followers of A.C. Bhaktividanta Swami Prabhupada were on campus last Tuesday afternoon rapping with students on the advantages of Krsna consciousness.

The development of Krsna consciousness (union with God consciousness) is brought about by the chanting of the mantra:

Hare Krsna, Hare Krsna
Krsna Krsna, Hare Hare
Hare Rama, Hare Rama
Rama Rama, Hare Hare
Many of you might think of this as the lyrics to a George Harrison number. However, the chanting of Hare Krsna was around long before Harrison.

The word Hare is the form of addressing the energy of the Lord, and the words Krsna and Rama are forms of addressing the Lord himself. Those who talked to the Hare Krsna followers found them earnest in their beliefs, yet there appeared to be no immediate rush from those of Lti consciousness to those of the Krsna consciousness.

Servomation Back For Seconds

The Trustee's Committee on the Vending Machine Matter has recommended that Servomation of Northern New England be awarded the vending contract until July 31, 1973. Although Servomation's bid was only second highest, the committee did not award the contract to the top bidder, Peachum Corporation, because it was deemed that Peachum's overall scope of operation was not large enough to accommodate the magnitude of Lowell Tech's vending business.

The bidding this year was highlighted by the incorporation of recommendations made to the Trustees by this same committee on the revampment of bidding procedures. There were 29 invitations to bid sent out, 12 replies and 3 bids. Last year only 1 bid was received and there was a furor concerning alleged selective bidding practices by L.T.I.

Mr. Robert Young, President of Servomation of Northern New England, stated that all the old machines on campus would be replaced. He asked that the students have patience with some of the older machinery which will be removed as soon as the replacements arrive.

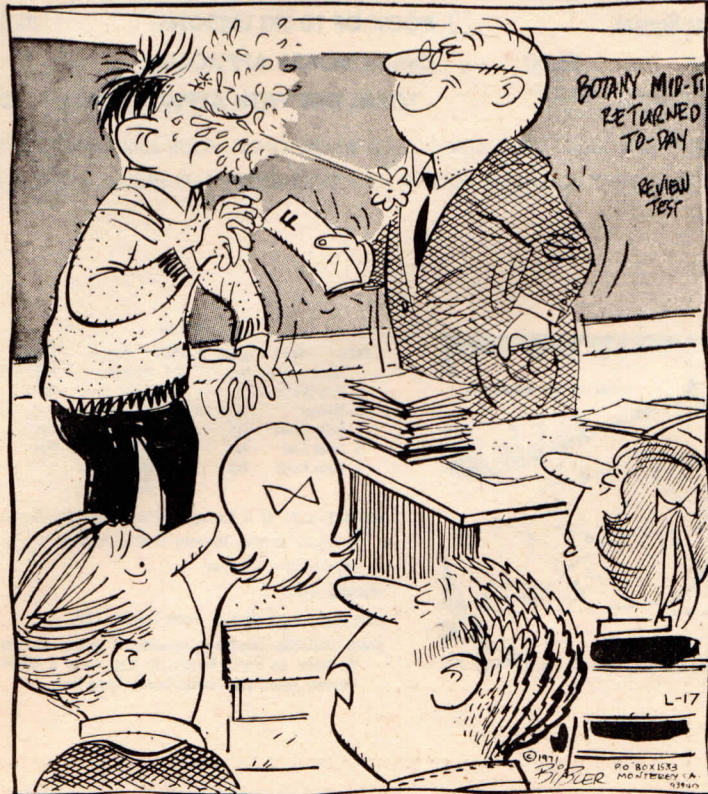

Sargent Appoints Student To BA

Governor Sargent has taken major steps to reconstitute the membership of Building Authority. Sargeant made four new appointments to the Authority, among them a student. This is the first time a student has been appointed to any Building Authority in the State.

The new appointees were: Richard Olney, trustee; Stanley Lapon, trustee; Syl Boumil, '69 Physics, John Custy '74 Chemistry. They represent a progressive change in the composition of the Board.

The Authority came under intense criticism last year for its failure to consult student and administration concerning the Student Union Building. The criticism filtered up to the Governor's office via student government. Continual pressure from student leaders throughout the year impressed the radical need for change in this area.

Procedure for Course Withdrawal

As noted on the 1972-73 Academic Calendar, the last day to drop a course without academic penalty is Monday, November 27.

The following procedure MUST be followed by every student for each course he intends to drop:

1. Obtain an Academic Action Form from your Department office or my office.

2. Fill in name, major and class, mail box number, date, Item No. 1 — Subject Number.

3. Obtain the signature of your Adviser, Instructor and Department Head.

4. Under Caption "New Department Head," sign your name.

5. When obtaining your Instructor's signature, request that he apply the administrative symbol of "X" to the grade card.

6. Submit all three copies of the Academic Action to the Dean of Student Affairs Office.

Unless this procedure is completely followed, a student is liable to receive an "F" grade.

The Dean's Office will distribute the form and in doing so notify your department, Data Processing, and the Registrar of this action.

* Freshmen must obtain an Academic Action Form and receive initial approval for this action from the Assistant Dean of Students.

IMPORTANT: A regularly enrolled full-time student must carry a minimum of 12 credit hours.

DON'T QUIT

When things go wrong as they sometimes will
When the road you're trudging seems all up hill
When the funds are low and the debts are high
And you want to smile and you have to sigh
When care is pressing you down a bit
Rest if you must but don't you quit

Life is queer with its twists and turns
As everyone of us sometimes learns
And many a failure turns about
When he might have won had he stuck it out
Don't give up though the pace seems slow
You may succeed with another blow

Often the goal is nearer than
It seems to a faint and faltering man
Often the struggler has given up
When he might have captured the victor's cup
And he learned too late when the night slipped down
How close he was to the golden crown

Success is failure turned inside out
The silver tint of the clouds of doubt
And you never can tell how close you are
You may be near when you seem so far
So stick to the fight when you're hardest hit
It's when things seem worst that you musn't quit

Ed. Note — For the past several years this poem has been printed in The Key and we know it has had a significant influence on the freshmen of LTI. This year, however, this guiding literary masterpiece was for some reason or another censored from the Class of '76 issue of The Key. To insure that the orientation of all freshmen is complete, the Text is printing the "Don't Quit" poem for all its inspirational worth.

As noted on Page 233 of the 1972-73 catalogue, Lowell Tech Freshmen must pass a swimming test and four quarters of Physical Education to satisfy degree requirements.

VETERANS (classification noted on Page 70 of the 1972-73 catalogue) and FEMALE students are exempt from the physical educational requirements.

Let Me Take You Higher

by Plant and the Family Stone

Well, it was one of those evenings when school work was a drag and Mod Squad was about as exciting as Dr. Welby, that this week's article rushed upon us. For the first time in many a month we entered into the mystical magical World of Politics. After passing Ideas and a few other things around for a little while we decided that we couldn't surpress certain information any longer.

It seemed logical enough to us that if everybody got blown out nobody would want to play war games so why not get everybody blown out? This seems to be a very rational and simple solution to a very intense problem. If such is the case we asked ourselves why doesn't the government legalize "plants."

We concluded that if they did, then they (the government) would 1) stimulate the economy by creating new opportunities for capitalists to become conglomerates (a dope trust?); 2) it would increase the "level" of living; and 3) a lot of freaks would win elections (2 plants in every garage?), which would lead to a collapse of the present regime. This last conclusion led us to conclude that all the freaks would be concluded for national insecurity reasons. We wondered how the "feds" could conclude the freaks and we concluded that they were already involved in such a production; here it is, plant fans:

1. Bomb N. Vietnam to destroy the foreign crop.
2. Send sattelites to the skies to spy on potential crops on the domestic front.

The result is to create a super shortage of foreign and domestic "plants." AH, HA you might say, but it does not end here! It's basic that the demand for such a commodity will at the least remain constant while the supply is reduced to near zero! National disaster on the horizon, plant fans! But again the plot thickens. With a near zero supply and a near infinite demand prices will get very high (people won't, but prices will!). This will result in freaks robbing, beating, and eliminating other freaks to secure a little bit of pleasure. Eventually all freaks will eliminate themselves in their struggle to secure our weed. The end result, no more freaks — and Sprio, Dick, and Archie will live happily ever after.

We promise next week . . . Harvesting. Wait till then, it will be worth it.

Technological Culture

The Student Council is planning to bring to you a bit of culture. Yes, culture. It has been decided, as decisions usually are, that the reason Techies are going to Tech, not Harvard, or Yale, is they are shunning couthness, running away from society and hiding in the hallowed hollow of Tech halls. To remedy this malevalent situation requires a lot of thought and measurement, study, an IBM 3000, an SQ7 60, a book by Emily Pose, and a little plant, uh, paint.

Soon the Lowell Techies will be associated with culture, paintings, art sculpture, exhibits of handicraft, and colorful posters.

This display of ammunition will begin as soon as galleries can be outfitted, that is, display cases found and set up throughout school, and guards assigned to the treasures. If you have any ideas concerning campus beautification, displays, or any posters which might be used in this all out effort, please report to the Student Council for induction; reduction; inspection; and rejection.

Alumni Weekend Planned

The 77th Reunion of Lowell Technological Institute alumni is planned for Saturday, September 30 at the School.

A full day of activities is scheduled starting with a registration hour at 9 a.m. in the Alumni Memorial Library. Tours of the expanding Lowell Tech facilities will be given, with graduates having an opportunity to view the two-building science complex and the 18 story student union, all nearing the final phases of construction.

President of Lowell Tech, Dr. Everett V. Olsen will keynote a noon luncheon at Cumnock Hall explaining recent academic and administrative changes at the school.

tennis and handball. Those more inclined toward spectator events can view a soccer match pitting the LTI Terriers against Colby College, or view a Merrimack River regatta featuring the Lowell Tech Rowing Club.

A 6:30 p.m. cocktail hour precedes a dinner-dance at the Nashua, N.H. Green Ridge Steak House for which reservations are necessary.

AFTERNOON activities center at the Costello Gymnasium where alumni will be offered a full range of facilities including swimming,

Further information and reservations for the reunion are available through the Lowell Tech Alumni office secretary, Mrs. Ella Pavlovich.

Tutors Needed

The Bishop Markham Tenants Council, Inc. needs volunteers for its Tutoring Program.

The program is based on the "Big Brother" — "Big Sister" concept. One child for one tutorer, one hour, and one day a week.

For the past two years, we have successfully run this program, thanks to the wonderful response from our local college students.

For volunteer enlistment or further information, call 8-2073 — Mrs. Baker.

Children involved are in grades 1-8.

Coffeehouse Needs Talent

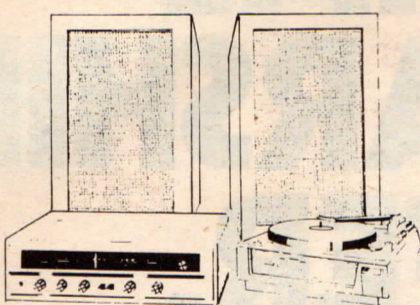

The coffeehouse committee is in desperate need of acts for the coffeehouse. If you have any special talent or know anyone else who does, contact me through my mailbox. Include in it what it is you do.

I would like to see more people from Tech getting involved with the coffeehouse. The pay isn't great but you'll make new friends.

WLTi PROGRAM SCHEDULE

WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 18

WLTi, Lowell Tech's student operated and student run FM radio station will be returning to the air on a regular basis starting Monday, Sept. 18. Over the past three months WLTi has experienced a major change, they have increased their broadcast power. WLTi, which used to be ten watts mono with a possible broadcast area of Lowell and its immediate suburbs, has gone to 1700 watts stereo with a possible broadcast radius of approximately 40 miles. This change has been long awaited by the WLTi Staff with it having been in the development stage for the past three years. The change took effect in the latter part of May with the first regular broadcasting to begin Sept. 18.

WLTi will be continuing its community oriented broadcasting along with increased entertainment broadcasting. The station has plans for a more indepth look at the problems facing the surrounding communities, through live interviews and a staff of reporters to cover the communities' activities. This will also hopefully lead to a more indepth coverage of local news along with regional and national stories. WLTi being a student operated, non-commercial educational radio station counts on listener support and encouragement for its successful operation.

WLTi can be found at 91.5 MHz on the FM dial with studios located in the basement of the Alumni Memorial Library on the campus of Lowell Technological Institute in Lowell, Massachusetts.

Nixon Gets the Word on Vietnam

(AFS) — Between the air war over Vietnam and the blockade off its norther coast, hardly anyone pays attention to the real fight — the continuing insurgency inside South Vietnam.

But Richard Nixon is hardly anyone. Back in June, just after he re-escalated America's role in the conflict, the President asked Britain's most famous counter-insurgent, Sir Robert G. K. Thompson, to visit Vietnam and make an "independent assessment" of the situation.

Just what Thompson reported back, Mr. Nixon won't say. But if past performance gives any hint — and Sir Robert has been nothing if consistent through two decades of battles — he probably told the president not to count on his bombs.

Chief architect of Britain's fight against the Malayan Communists in the 1950's and then top British advisor to Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem and his Strategic Hamlet program, Thompson generally finds massive firepower and bombing "irrelevant."

Where American specialists tend to concentrate on military solutions, as did General Maxwell Taylor, or on promises of land reform and democracy, as did the CIA's legendary Gen. Edward Lansdale, Thompson is more the product of British imperial practice. Revolutionary warfare requires a breakdown in rural administration, he wrote in his widely-read Defeating Communist Insurgency with its guarantee of life and limb, right down to the individual hamlet.

The priority in all this, as Thompson time and time again has explained to American officials, is to defeat the political subversion, not the guerrillas. Wipe out the political underground organization in the South, he argues, and the Communists won't be able to recruit for and support their guerilla warfare.

An example of this approach is the Phoenix program, by which thousands of Vietnamese have been hunted down since 1967 in an effort to wipe out Communist political cadres, tax collectors, province and hamlet chiefs, and intelligence agents. Sponsored by the CIA, the program came under fire in the American Congress for its widespread use of torture and brutality — methods which, at least publicly, Thompson condemns. But as a counter-terrorist effort, Phoenix has, according to most observers, proven highly effective.

Massive American airpower postpones — and often obstructs — Phoenix-type activity, and already the Communists' political organization in the Mekong Delta and around Siagon has been able to bounce back, putting new guerilla units in the field.

This leaves Nixon in trouble. Bombing, coupled with pressure from the Soviet Union and China, might force Hanoi to negotiate a pause in the war. Bombing might convince Communists in other Southeast Asian nations to think twice, and it might even convince American voters that Nixon can win in Vietnam.

But as Nixon himself must know — at least since his talk with Thompson — bombing, negotiation, and even a second term in office offer no escape from an ongoing conflict back where it all started, in the Vietnamese countryside.

Omicron Pi

During Hell week, the house was restored to top form after a year of use by the brothers. Under Butch's skilled eye, new wallpaper was put up in many rooms, new tile laid in the kitchen, new walls put on the upstairs hall, and various ceilings and trimmings redone. The brothers also spent time fixing up their individual study rooms, with first prize awarded to Lumpy and Stax, whose room will certainly be featured in "Better Homes and Gardens."

The intramural sports are getting under way, and O Pi is ready to defend the Ivers Cup. Sam and Joel will be coaching the football team and have hopes of doing well. Rumor has it that softball is going to start in the fall rather than the spring, and this being the case, the softball team will be ready too.

We would like to welcome the freshmen to Lowell Tech, and are looking forward to meeting you. The house will be closed for now, but will open later in the semester for the first rushing function. There will be more information on this later. In the meantime, we at the house will be seeing if the Hamster can make it that far this year.

CIRCLE K

Are you looking for a way to express yourself, an outlet for excess energy, and want to do something useful? Well, the Lowell Tech Circle K is looking for you.

Basically a service organization, Circle K strives to help those that need it and better both the college and its community. Blending both social and service functions, Circle K forms a unique fellowship for its members as it does all over the world.

As part of Kwanis

International, Circle K fills the gap between high school Key Club, and business orientated Kwanis Club. With an impressive lot of achievements and so much to offer to those who can accept a little responsibility, Circle K deserves to be looked into by YOU.

Meetings are held on Thursdays in B-205 at 1 p.m. and anyone interested in welcome. Don't cheat yourself, get involved. With so much to gain and nothing to lose, you owe it to yourself to find out this Thursday.

Pi Lambda Phi

Pi Lambda Phi of Lowell Tech received national recognition by being honored with the Outstanding Chapter Operations Trophy at the National Convention. This is the most important trophy given at the convention and gives some indication of how efficiently our house functions. The Pi Lambda Phi football team, hurt drastically by graduation, will nevertheless enter the forthcoming season with high hopes. Pi Lambda Phi welcomes all new incoming freshmen, along with the second year freshmen and other old timers to another year of parties, stags and what ever your imagination desires.

Pershing Rifles

Students, we would like to take this opportunity to inform you of a drilling organization on campus, Purshing Rifles. This year we are open to the entire student body at Lowell Tech. We are a closely knit Brotherhood striving for perfection and precision in a highly motivational skill. Our drill meets take us to parts of Connecticut, New York, and all over New England.

Drop in to rap with the brothers between classes anytime. We are located in Southwick Hall down from the ROTC office. If you are really interested, come to our smoker, where we are serving coffee and donuts, on Wednesday, September 20 at 7 o'clock.

Remember, Pershing Rifles is open to all students at Tech.

Clubs Must Submit Carnival Expenses

The LTI Student Council must pay off all Spring Carnival expenses by September 30. Any fraternity, sorority, club, or organization must submit their expenses by September 26 (Wednesday) in order to be reimbursed. Please submit expenses along with receipts or other proof of what was spent. Also please include the name of your organization including the name of your booth or stand and indicate to whom a check can be made payable. Send all information (or questions) to Derek Ford-Coates, Box 1265. Thank you.

Sports for Women At Tech

Bet you didn't know that there were any sports at Tech for girls to become involved in. Well, there are! Although both male and female students pay the same activity fee of which one third is devoted to athletics, the variety and number of sports for men are far greater than those for women. Since there are no gym programs or varsity sports for women, most of us have not been able to get our money's worth of the Activity Fee which we are required to pay. However, in the past couple of years, as the female enrollment has increased, our interest in participation in sports has also grown. Last year, a gigantic step was taken in the future of women's sports at Tech. An intramural volleyball league was formed. The competition was good and all of us who participated had a great time. It was a way of getting to know the other girls on campus and it was good exercise. However, we did have problems. Last spring, our season coincided with the men's volleyball leagues . . . this made scheduling difficult. For this reason, this year our season will start on September 25. Anyone interested in joining one of the teams that is already organized or in organizing their own team should attend the meeting at 12:00 noon, September 19 in the multipurpose room. At this meeting, not only will the volleyball be discussed, but also formation of a tennis team. Although the tennis will not begin until the spring, we must be organized before the season starts. Therefore, anyone interested in playing or in learning tennis also should attend this meeting. If you cannot attend this meeting, but you are interested in women's sports at LTI, please contact either Noel, Box 1769; Nancy, Box 1310; or Sue, Box 1205. Thank you and we hope to see you on Tuesday.

Football at Tech Returns

By Tom Neally

Yes, Football is returning to Lowell Tech. This Saturday, Sept. 23 at 1:30 PM behind Costello Gymnasium, the Lowell Tech Hawks will start its second year of intercollegiate play against St. Michaels College of Vermont.

The Hawks are a team made up of active members of the football club. The club as well as the team is only in its second year at Lowell Tech. It was a long, hard fight to get football back at L.T.I. and I think this team deserves the support of the entire student body.

After last year's disappointing record of no wins and six losses, playing teams such as University of New Haven, St. Michaels College, Dean Junior College, Brandeis University, Springfield Tech, and Worcester State College, the team has high hopes that it will improve that record. Of the 50 players listed on the team, 15 of them are veterans of last year's clashes. The coaches, Bucky Harrison and Tom Wholly, have the team drilled excellently. If you would like to see the team practice, come down to the athletic field between 4 & 6, Monday-Friday.

Come down to the game Saturday at 1:30 and help the Cheerleaders cheer the Hawks on to victory.

Tech Co-Captain Jim Roberts

Cross Country

The Lowell Tech Cross Country Team opens its season this Wednesday at Plymouth State. The team will be without four of its top six runners from last year. Ken Johnson and Dan Ayers graduated while Tim Marr and Rich McGrath transferred. Coach Davis is looking to the incoming freshmen to fill the gaps and calls this a rebuilding year.

Co-Captains Jim Roberts and Bill Carpenter will lead the team through a tougher schedule than last year when they were 13-3. That's going to be hard to beat. The first home meet is this Saturday at 1:00 against St. Anselms and Assumption.
